Nurses Graduate from Kingston Hospital in Appropriate Ceremony

Dr. Frank B. Seelye Was Master of Ceremonies With the Rev. J. Addison Jones as Commencement Speaker—Awards Made.

The Kingston Hospital School of Nursing held its graduation exercises on Tuesday evening, June 5, at the Kingston High School in the presence of a very large audience. The stage presented a very attractive picture to those arriving, with the footlights flanked with baskets and bouquets of flowers, gifts to the graduates.

The undergraduate nurses and the graduates, following Miss Allen, the superintendent of the hospital, and Miss Porter, the principal of the school, members of the board of managers and the hospital staff, entered the auditorium and proceeded to the stage to march music played by Miss Eva Clinton.

The Rev. Dr. Frank B. Seelye, president of the board of managers of the hospital, acted as master of ceremonies. He called upon the Rev. Fred H. Deming, D. D., for the invocation.

The closest attention was given to the report of the School of Nursing as given by Miss Porter. It follows:

Mr. Chairman and Members of the Board of Managers, Members of the Class of 1934, and your friends:

I am sure you do not care to listen to statistics, and I do not like to make up a statistical report, but there are certain items which seem necessary and fitting to present at this time—so, with your willingness to listen, I will do my best to present as briefly as possible those items with a few interesting facts concerning the School of Nursing.

The personnel of the school consists of a staff of 10 graduate nurses acting as the principal of the school, instructors, and supervising head nurses. There are 43 students enrolled and a group of seven graduate nurses doing general ward duty.

During the year, 20 students were admitted—17 were graduated and 6 were dropped from the school for various reasons. There were only 110 days of illness and 183 days of absence. Twenty students have had experience for six months each in Bellevue Hospital. A total of 788 hours of class work has been taught in the class rooms.

The changes of the nursing staff are as follows: Mrs. Luella Van Nodall, who was with us for four years as first floor supervisor, resigned to take a position in Dr. Fassett's office; Miss Lucchese, who has been night supervisor for two years, was appointed in that position; and Miss Esther Wood was appointed as night supervisor; Miss Gray, who has been our science instructor for the past 3 1/2 years, has resigned and is leaving on June 15 to take a position in her home school. I wish to express my regret at losing such an earnest and enthusiastic worker as Miss Gray. We will miss her and all wish her much happiness in her new work.

The addition of new chairs and desks in the class rooms added to the comfort of teaching and a new microscope has been found very useful and greatly facilitated the speed with which classes can be handled.

Socially, the members of the school have enjoyed tea parties, picnics, and various types of outdoor activities. The freshman group was especially active. A dancing class, under the direction of Miss Beulah Phelps of Saugerties, was one of their many projects. The student organization had food sales, auctions, etc., to increase their funds for financing a delegate to the state nurses' convention in Rochester. Perhaps the most outstanding piece of work the students have done is the publishing of a little paper each month. This is called the Rarebit and contains many rare bits of news, jokes, and wisdom each month. It now has reached a high degree of popularity and has 106 subscribers.

Several magazines which were subscribed for by various friends this year have added very much to the pleasure of off-duty hours. We are now always sure of good current and magazines on the book shelves and are indeed grateful to these thoughtful persons.

Special Demonstrations

Special demonstrations were given by the various classes—each group displaying the best exhibition of art and skill it could give in doing certain bedside nursing procedures. These demonstrations were attended by the head nurses and supervisors of the various departments and discussions followed as to best methods and ways of improving the procedure. This type of teaching develops the student's ability to do finished work, adds to her power of observation and poise, and gives her self-confidence to work under the stress of observation and in emergencies.

Attended Meetings

Various members of the staff have attended the State and National Nurses' meetings, as well as several special meetings on the problems of Nursing Education. The keynote of public health this year has been "Child Health" and how to promote it. Every nurse has been asked to think and work particularly along that line.

The plea at all meetings from the educational group has been "More Nursing—Fewer Nurses." Investigation throughout the country shows fewer, but better nurses are needed; and more thought should be given to community needs and how we can

Unfavorable Report On Bill To Pay Soldiers' Bonus In Full

Chairman Harrison Will Submit Report to Senate and Let Measure Go On Calendar to Await Its Turn—Senate Leaders Predict This Will Prevent Passage of $2,200,000,000 Measure at This Session.

Washington, June 6 (AP)—Chairman Harrison (D., Miss.) said today an "overwhelming" majority of the finance committee had voted for an unfavorable report on the House bill to pay in full the soldiers' bonus.

He added he would submit the report to the Senate immediately and let the measure go on the calendar to await its turn at the jammed session-end.

Senate leaders predicted this would prevent passage of the $2,200,000,000 measure this session.

The Mississippi did not give the roll call of the committee because it was not complete, but Harrison said of the 15 already recorded most of them were for reporting it unfavorably.

A few favored submitting to the Senate "without recommendation." The bill provides for issuance of the $2,200,000,000 in new currency to pay the present estimated face value of the World War veterans' adjusted service certificates.

"In my opinion," Harrison said, "a majority of the Senate is against the immediate payment of the bonus, due to the extreme demands being made upon the treasury for relief purposes."

"The President has expressed an equivocal attitude against the passage of this legislation at this time, and the Senate to pass it would be ineffective, because everybody appreciates the impossibility of passing it over a veto."

"A large majority of the committee is opposed to the legislation, but felt that it might be reported on unfavorably so that it would have its place on the Senate calendar for disposition."

Dowager Queen, of Sea Back on Polite Waters

S. S. Leviathan, With Gleaming Hull and Fittings, Enters New York Harbor Proudly Today to Resume Service.

New York, June 6 (AP)—The "Dowager Queen" of the North Atlantic is back in polite society again, hoping to end her days there after a lifetime of ups and downs for which she was not to blame.

Proudly, with her house flag flying from the peak, the S. S. Leviathan, America's largest passenger liner, steamed in through the early morning mist to her harbor anchorage today, ready to resume her rightful place among the queens of the sea.

She returned from Boston, where they have been refitting her, in shining new paint, and Saturday afternoon she will sail for Cherbourg, once more the flagship of the United States Lines.

For the last year she has languished idle at her Hoboken pier. During twenty years she never showed a profit, and when the depression struck the shipping business her present owners obtained a twelve-month suspension in the clause in the contract of sale which stipulated that she must make seven round trips annually. Now times are better and they are going to try again.

4 to Die At Sing Sing Unless Lehman Acts

Men Are Scheduled to Meet Death in Electric Chair for Murder of One Man, "Durable" Malloy, in The Bronx.

Albany, N. Y., June 6 (AP)—Unless there is executive intervention a quartet of men will go to the electric chair at Sing Sing tomorrow night, the largest number to die for one murder since four were executed for a single crime in 1920.

The 1920 electrocution of four has been the only one since the four Rosenthal gunmen went to their death in April, 1914, for the gambler's murder.

Daniel Kreishberg, Anthony Marino, Joseph Murphy and Frank Pappas were convicted of murdering "Durable" Malloy in The Bronx. Malloy was known as "Durable" because of the several attempts to kill him before he finally was exterminated for his insurance.

Berlin Mobs Smash Woolworth Windows

Berlin, June 6 (AP)—Angry mobs demonstrated in three cities today against stores of the F. W. Woolworth Company, following reports the American firm had joined an anti-German boycott.

Windows of the store at Kassel were smashed, streaks of paint were daubed on the company's store at Bonn, and a chorus of excited voices shouted "Do not buy from this anti-German firm" at Ludwigshafen.

Woolworth's German representatives vigorously denied reports reaching Germany that the company had joined a boycott on German goods in America.

Woolworth officials said they would make vigorous representations to the German government demanding that the campaign against their stores be stopped.

ROOSEVELT TO VISIT HAWAII THIS SUMMER

Washington, June 6 (AP)—The navy is all ready to take President Roosevelt to Hawaii this summer.

Only a final bit of deck swabbing and brass polishing is needed to make the 3,600-ton cruiser, Houston, ready to serve as a floating White House.

Designated as a flagship, the Houston led the Asiatic squadron for two years. Mr. Roosevelt will occupy the admiral's quarters.

Former Congressman Pratt's Will Filed

Widow, Son and Daughter Named as Executors in Will, Which Was Executed January 22, 1934.

The will of former Congressman George W. Pratt has been filed for probate with Surrogate Kaufman, by Charles W. Walton, attorney for the executors. Haviland, income from the remaining one-fourth for maintenance and education of the three grandchildren and their half-sister, Ann Sundstrom, until the youngest is 21, when they receive the principal.

The second half of the trust is divided one-fourth each to George W. Pratt, Jane C. Betts and Rowena P. Haviland and income from one-fourth for the maintenance and education of the three grandchildren and their half-sister, when they receive the principal when the youngest is 21 years of age.

George W. Pratt is to have the opportunity of purchasing testator's interest in the Kingston Lumber Co., Corporation, the Arnold Lumber Co., of Poughkeepsie and the Beacon Coal and Lumber Co.; also his interest in the firm of George W. Pratt and Son.

FORD'S NAME USED BY NAZIS WITHOUT SANCTION

Washington, June 6 (AP)—The unauthorized use of Henry Ford's name on an anti-Jewish book published in Germany this year was charged today before a House committee investigating un-American activities in the United States.

At the same time, the committee was told that "propaganda" prepared by Nazi party officials in Germany is being circulated in this country through an organization known as "Friends of New Germany."

The book involving Ford's name was titled "Der Internationale Jude"—the International Jew and comprised a collection of articles which appeared in the Dearborn, Mich., Independent, Ford's magazine, several years ago.

Inserted in the House committee record today by Representative Weideman (D-Mich.) was a copy of a letter which Ford wrote to Theodore Fritsch, at Leipzig, Germany, on November 1, 1927, in which the automobile manufacturer remarked that he had retracted the charges against Jews in those articles.

Freighter Aground

Duluth, Minn., June 6 (AP)—Three United States Coast Guard cutters early today sped to the rescue of the freighter Mariposa, grounded and in distress with a crew of 24 off Lamb Island in Lake Superior, 50 miles east of Port Arthur, Ont. Radio SOS calls early today indicated the vessel's bow was out of the water and its tanks had been damaged, and that while there was no immediate danger, the craft would be in difficulty if the wind changed.

Pope Audiences

Vatican City, June 6 (AP)—Pope Pius gave a private audience today to Gabriel Duchesne, a French Jesuit, the widow of Nicholas Brady, former American capitalist. Later in the day Mrs. Brady received the Lestera Medal of Notre Dame University at the American College in Rome.

Historical Society Luncheon Meeting Was Great Success In 151st Running

Letters Received From President Roosevelt and From Mrs. James Roosevelt—Five-minute Speakers Gave Very Interesting Talks—Decorations Attract Attention.

The luncheon and series of short talks that brought to a close the annual June meeting of the Ulster County Historical Society, held at the Governor Clinton Hotel Tuesday, furnished a most pleasing conclusion to what was perhaps the most successful meeting yet held by the society since its reorganization. President G. D. B. Hasbrouck and Secretary E. L. Merritt expressed themselves as highly gratified with the evident increase of interest in the work of the society, as shown not only by the large attendance at the literary session and the luncheon following, but by the active participation on the part of so many of the members.

Mrs. Olive B. Sarre of Yama Farms, Napanoch, presided most gracefully and efficiently at the luncheon and added new laurels to those she had previously won on like occasions as a charming and capable hostess.

Mrs. Sarre introduced the after-dinner portion of the program by reading a couple of letters, the first from no less a personage than President Franklin D. Roosevelt and the second from Mrs. Sara D. Roosevelt (Mrs. James Roosevelt), and a telegram from Hamlin Garland, who on other occasions has been a guest at the meeting of the society.

The President's mother, Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, wrote from Hyde Park:

My dear Mrs. Sarre: I was interested to learn that on June fifth the Ulster County Historical Society will hold its annual luncheon.

"Mrs. Roosevelt joins me in extending personal greetings to all in attendance and our best wishes for the successful consideration of the problems confronting your organization."

The President's mother, Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, wrote from Hyde Park:

My dear Mrs. Sarre: I wish I could accept your kind invitation for the annual luncheon on June fifth, as nothing could give me greater pleasure. Unfortunately I cannot leave home on that day, as I have asked friends here from a distance and must be here.

I am indeed deeply interested in all local matters on both sides of our dear Hudson river.

SARA D. ROOSEVELT. (Mrs. James Roosevelt.)

Hamlin Garland telegraphed from Peckskill: "Unable to attend meeting. No car. No driver. Deeply regretful."

Five-minute Speakers

Dr. Mary Gage-Day was the first of the five-minute speakers introduced and she gave a very comprehensive and excellent history of the hospitals of Kingston, a matter on which she is particularly qualified to speak.

Mrs. Bruno L. Zimm gave an entertaining account of a mountain climbing expedition near Woodstock in the nature of an addition to the folk lore stories told by Miss Smith at the morning session. She also referred to the work done by the C. W. in transcribing town records, with expressed hope that more of it might be done.

Mrs. Henry Horton, a descendant of the Hardenberghs, made some mention of the old historic Hardenbergh house at Kerhonkson, and explained that the paper by F. S. Delenbaugh, which was to have been presented at the morning session, had been held up for further and more complete research. She said that Dr. Delenbaugh expected to give the paper at the September meeting, perhaps at Crossroads.

Mrs. C. C. Hardenbergh, Mrs. William Hasbrouck and Mrs. Hollister Stokes of Stone Ridge all brought bits of the wealth of historical anecdote that linger about the Stone Ridge country, with some description of the wonderful stone houses in that old village. Mrs. Hardenbergh brought some additional information regarding the Hardenbergh family, which had been included as supplemental to Mr. Delenbaugh's paper.

Myron S. Teller gave some facts regarding the survey of old stone houses in Ulster county, made under the government Historical American Building Survey. Mr. Teller was chairman of the committee of five that spent six weeks making a survey of several of the more important houses, including the "Spy House" at Hurley, the Van Rensselaer house and two houses in New Paltz.

Outsider Sweeps Derby at Epsom Downs Today

Windsor Lad Takes Command at the Stretch to Place Eastern Second and Colombo, Favorite, Third—250,000 at a Stake.

By GAYLE TALBOT, Associated Press Staff Writer.

Epsom Downs, Eng., June 6 (AP)—The aptly named Windsor Lad running in the colors of the Indian Pootentate, the Maharaja of Rajpoota, today galloped to decisive triumph in the 151st running of the Epsom Derby, blue ribbon event of the English turf, leaving behind him the outstanding favorite, Colombo.

Taking command coming into the stretch, Windsor Lad went on to a length victory over the French bred Colossus, owned by Lord Woolavington, with Colombo, 11 to 8 choice of the betters, a head back in third place but a well-beaten horse.

A monster crowd estimated at from 250,000 to 300,000 persons, including the leading representatives of the House of Windsor, King George and Queen Mary, saw the Irish-bred Indian-owned racer gallop the mile and a half of sun-baked turf in the record equalling time of 2 minutes 34 seconds. He paid his backers 15 to 2 while Eastern was 100 to 1 to win.

Colombo, the shortest-priced favorite since Gallopborough won at 8 to 1 in 1918, had no excuses as he was well up with the leaders all the way. He went wide at the corner coming into the stretch but just did not have the speed to get up.

It was his first defeat in 10 starts. He was unbeaten as a two-year-old and had won the Craven stakes and the two thousand guineas, first of the English classics, this spring.

The defeat was a hard blow to his owner, Lord Glanely, who had hoped to repeat his triumph of 1919 when Grand Parade won.

Only one American horse ran, William Woodward's Bondsman. He was in contention in the early running but could not stand the hot finishing pace and was out of the money.

Thieria, owned by Sir Abe Bailey, was fourth.

The victory was a popular one with the crowd, as the Maharaja is well and favorably known on both sides of the Atlantic as a fine sportsman. He visited the United States in 1922 and was received by the late President Harding.

MOONEY'S FIGHT TO GO TO U. S. COURT OF APPEALS

San Francisco, June 6 (AP)—Tom Mooney's fight for release from the prison to which he was sent on conviction of bombing a preparedness parade here in 1916, will be taken next to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

Federal District Judge A. F. St. Sure declined yesterday to reconsider his recent refusal of a writ of habeas corpus for Mooney. The court had denied the writ on the ground that Mooney had not exhausted all legal remedies available in California state courts.

Mooney's attorneys said they did not expect the writ to be granted, but had sought it as the basis for an appeal, eventually to the United States Supreme Court.

Warren K. Billings, convicted of the same crime, and who like Mooney has had appeals for pardons denied by four governors, has asked for a parole. Mooney, however, has declined to take such a step, fearing it might be construed as admission of guilt.

Two persons were killed and nearly two score injured in the preparedness day bombing.

PAYNE'S FATHER TAKES PROTECTIVE ATTITUDE

Los Angeles, June 6 (AP)—Louis Rude Payne, 21-year-old confessed slayer of his mother and brother, was called as a witness today at a coroner's inquest into their deaths.

Whether Louis' father, Lucius F. Payne, former public utilities executive who comforted the youth upon his arrival here yesterday from St. Louis, would be called to testify was not disclosed by the coroner's office.

After a two-hour visit with his son at the West Los Angeles police station, the elder Payne said, "I am convinced that if he did this thing, he is insane."

Adopt Law With Teeth and Fix School Tax at $7.85

Corporation Counsel Matthew V. Cahill Informed Aldermen That Ordinance Adopted Last Year Was Not Enforceable and After Much Oratory a New One Is Adopted in Its Stead—School Budget Adopted—Other Matters at Council Session.

The hawking and peddling ordinance designed to protect local merchants which was adopted last year by the common council was not enforceable the aldermen were told by Corporation Counsel Matthew V. Cahill at the regular monthly meeting of the common council held Tuesday evening at the city hall, and a new ordinance that was said to have "teeth in it" was introduced by the laws and rules committee and after considerable oratory both for and against it was adopted by a vote of 9 to 4. The aldermen also approved the school budget and fixed the school tax rate at $7.85. All of the aldermen were present when the meeting was called to order, and it was nearly 11 o'clock before an adjournment was taken.

When arraigned in court Monday morning the district attorney explained that McDonald had failed to make payments as required under an agreement made some time ago when he was paroled. This morning it was stated payments had been made and the matter was further adjourned until June 25 at 2 o'clock.

Man Confesses Act In Burying Dale Jones

Phillipi, W. Va., June 6 (AP)—Prosecutor Forrest B. Polling announced today Lawrence Carroll, 36, after a night of questioning, described how he killed Dale Jones, 15, in a fist fight and buried the school boy in a hillside cave.

Carroll, a former inmate of the Weston State Hospital, and Gordon Blake, 35, were taken into custody shortly after a posse found the body Sunday—a leg protruding from a pile of rocks.

Jones, who recently was graduated from the eighth grade in school, had been missing since he left home to attend church May 27, the Sunday evening previous.

Polling quotes Carroll as saying he met Jones at the church near Old Mountain, and that they went to a nearby hill to "get a drink," and that an argument ensued.

State police said the statements apparently cleared Blake.

Chicago's Hermit Dons Clothes, Is Killed

Chicago, June 6 (AP)—Abe Hinkley, 61-year-old "naked hermit" who lived for 12 years in a chicken coop, put on clothes early today but it cost him his life.

He was shot and killed by a farmer who told police he saw Hinkley growing about his chicken coop. The aged recluse was wearing brown trousers and a grey shirt—the first clothes he had donned in a dozen years.

Hinkley was going away—driven from his home by police who sought to arrest him for indecent exposure on complaint of residents. It was supposed he was seeking food or a place to sleep when he was slain.

VESSELS PASS THROUGH CANAL CARRYING WAR MATERIAL

Colon, Panama, June 6 (AP)—Three ships have passed through the Panama Canal since Sunday carrying materials of war to west coast ports of South America. The Knutson Lin's Nybora came from Europe with 235 tons of ammunition consigned to Bolivia. The French Line's San Pedro and the North German Lloyd Erlanger brought explosives from Europe for unspecified destinations on the coast.

Congressman Goodwin wrote City Clerk E. J. Dempsey under date of June 1 regarding the status of the proposed Rondout harbor improvement which was not yet under the hands of the public works administration, but no decision had been announced by that administration as to what would be done, if anything.

Alderman Zaca moved that the city clerk reply to Mr. Goodwin's

IS EPILEPSY INHERITED?
CAN IT BE CURED?

A booklet containing the opinions of famous doctors on this interesting subject will be sent FREE, while they last, to any reader writing to the Educational Division, Dept. 353, 545 Fifth Ave., New York City, N. Y.

Many letters from the people wanting information on part-time farming are being received by the United States Department of Agriculture. The department has a booklet, "How Much Land Can a Family Live On?" which is being distributed free of charge. Should I keep some and what? What vegetables and fruits should I grow?

"Part-time farming and part-time employment is a small piece of land to an employed man and his family can care for it and have the department in a position to give them practical guidance in planning their farm. Many of the people who are interested in part-time farming are not only interested in the land, but also in the family wants to keep a cow and pigs to help the necessary winter food. Two acres of good pasture land, in addition, should be secured, and the extra work will be necessary," the department adds.

When employed only part time or short hours and who have large families, the department says, it is economical to keep a milk cow or milk goats, and some pigs, and raise the necessary food. In addition to having a garden and growing pink poultry. This plan means the use of labor or mechanical power and should be tried only after experience and careful consideration.

The department's publication is intended primarily for use by persons who are planning to engage in part-time farming as a means of supplying the family with garden foods; it does not deal with many of the problems of the organized subsistence homestead projects of the Department of the Interior. The department points out also that although many families with small incomes can lower their living costs by living on a small piece of land and growing their own food, part-time farming has certain problems that are somewhat different from the usual farming problems. Those who are inexperienced often over-estimate the savings made possible by this way of living, and they often underestimate the costs in the way of the labor and cash necessary in such part-time farming.

"This combination of farming and wage work off the farm, now usually called subsistence farming," the department continues, "is particularly attractive to those families with several children who find it difficult to provide suitable housing and plenty of fresh fruits and vegetables from their small incomes. It is much less attractive if wages from work off the farm are not enough to meet the necessary cash expenses of the farm and the family living. Inexperienced people will encounter severe competition if they try to raise farm products for sale."

The department says that enough vegetables and small fruits can be raised on one-half to three-quarters of an acre of good land to furnish a family of five with all they need for canned, stored, and dried products for the winter, but that "these small fruits and vegetables, together with a small poultry flock and a few fruit trees, are all that can be cared for properly by the ordinary family without a horse or garden tractor. The man is chiefly employed in some other job during the growing season."

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON—The real reason President Roosevelt is cracking the whip over Congress is an effort to force action by June 5 that he has been advised to expect the worst of the session.

Message makers have it that Speaker Hiram, House leader Byrnes and Backhead, chairman of the house rules committee, wanted the White House recently to canvass the legislative situation with him, seeking reminiscent of a Hamiltonian party at midnight were expected.

The three democratic "horsemen" of the house paraded a gallery of speakers before the President. Most of them were recalcitrant minorities now bemoaning the trip to the point of desperation.

Byrnes told his experience of the night before when the house, meeting in special session to transact business on the private calendar, was forced to adjourn after 45 minutes because the recalcitrants went on a rampage.

Unwanted Legislation

THE trouble seems to lie in the fact that the administration is attempting to squelch various pieces of legislation demanded by these minorities. The principal measures are:

The Frazier-Lemke bill for nationalization of farm mortgages and issue of currency thereon; the Mellon bill providing for payment of deposits in closed banks, and the Connery bill for weekly bill.

Each of these measures is now in process of being thrust on the house for action by means of the discharge rule, under which a petition to the speaker, signed by 145 members, forces a particular measure out of the hands of the committee onto the floor for a vote on its merits.

Rule's End Sought

SEVEN legislative days must elapse from the time a petition is completed before a vote can be taken, and then the balloting must be done on specified discharge days (Mondays).

It is not difficult to see, therefore, the necessity for the administration's standpoint for as speedy adjournment as possible. The longer the session is prolonged the greater the risk will be for votes to be forced on this unwanted legislation. Predictions are being made from the discharge rule will be wiped off the house's manual of rules. It was put in by the democrats when they captured control of the house in 1930, because of the clamor for liberalization of legislative procedure, but the leaders, at least, have had enough of it.

It's caused them too many headaches this session.

Early Post Office,
Founded in 1817,
Closed by U. S.

Stuttgart, Ark. (AP)—The post office at Arkansas Post, earliest settlement in the state, which once served territory between St. Louis and Monroe, La., with monthly mail delivery, has been closed by orders from Washington.

Established 117 years ago, the office was reputed to have been one of the first west of the Mississippi river. Two years after its opening, William E. Woodruff landed a canoe load of printing equipment and founded the Arkansas Gazette. That newspaper, which some say is the oldest west of the Mississippi, is now published at Little Rock.

For several years the population of the Arkansas Post community has been growing smaller. After the recent death of Lewis Cornell, postmaster for 36 years, the office was ordered discontinued.

Announcement that the order had been received brought a last-minute boom in postal receipts. Stamp collectors hurried there, bent on obtaining cancellations.

FLOATING HOSPITAL ASKED
BY SPANISH FISHING FLEET

Madrid (AP)—The ministry of marine has been asked by the Society of Fishermen to send a hospital ship into Irish waters so that the 3,000 Spaniards fishing those waters each summer may have medical attention.

The petition states that each year there are numerous deaths from neglect among the crews of the 240 fishing boats which put out from Coruna, Gijon, Bilbao, Pasaes and Santander.

The crews, knowing neither English nor Gaelic, cannot make themselves understood at Irish coast hospitals.

A ship manned by Spanish physicians, the petition says, assuredly would reduce the death toll.

IRISH ARMY MAY MARCH IN BRIAN BORN UNIFORMS

Dublin (AP)—The Irish Free State's army may revert to the uniform of the Erin of centuries ago.

A proposal is being considered by the government that the army dress as did Brian Boru's soldiers when they routed the Danes at the battle of Clontarf. At present the soldiers are garbed like American troops, except that the uniforms are green.

One suggestion is that the soldiers wear kilts and shawls. But economy is a leading objection since a kilt takes more than three times as much material as a pair of trousers.

Opponents of this scheme heart-

lessly inquire: "If kilts, why not bows and arrows?"

Maine Fire Terror Gets Equal Split Today

ALBANY, Me., June 6 (AP)—The state forestry department today expected the fire that had swept through six townships in northern Aroostook county to be finally subdued in a day or two, but no such hope was held out for the blaze which had spread over 50 square miles.

Airplane surveys showed the Canadian-Aroostook county border fire, burning for more than a week, had covered the forests of the six townships but was being checked with the help of high humidity and no wind.

Another border fire which cleaned out three townships in Somerset county was declared out by the forestry department.

An undetermined number of sportsmen and lumber camps in the Mt. Katahdin region have been leveled by the flames which have burned for a week in that picturesque area, a record of sightseers and sportsmen.

The forestry department's airplane continued today to patrol the fire, reporting progress of the flames to the town of Quebec, where men who have fought the fire relentlessly day and night.

WOMAN 109 TELLS HER VIEWS ON OLD FOLK

Boston, June 6 (AP)—She has lived 109 years and she thinks there are too many old folks in the world.

She has two ways of judging people—if they are polite, well-mannered and democratic, she likes them; if they are prejudiced in their opinions, she has no patience.

She is Dr. Marie De Gollere Devenport, the daughter of a Tartar nobleman and a Polish countess.

Her recipe for youth is simple but strenuous.

"I hate to sit still and do nothing," she said. "I like to travel and meet people, lecture and now and then, read and study philosophy."

The mail man warned him to look out for an approaching car, but the lad started across the street, according to witnesses, and was struck by the bumper of the car in which Mrs. Masselman was conveying children to school. After treatment by Dr. Lambert the lad was brought to the Kingston Hospital.

FINGERTIP LENGTH COAT WINS PLACE

Knitting Craze Produces Interesting Garments.

The knitting craze that Mrs. Roosevelt started last year goes on apace, and nowdays it's an unusual costume who hasn't knitted a complete garment from dress to handbag.

And the smartest knit just now is string—ordinary twine, such as is used to tie up sacks of potatoes. The things they're doing with it you'd never believe.

The string knit coat, fingertip length, loose and casual, is about the best looking garment in the summer-time wardrobe, especially when it fastens with one big wooden button at the neck, has deep patch pockets, and is done in a wide herringbone knit, out of the heaviest string, which is almost big enough to be rope.

Fishnet weaves, like the bags they use for oranges in esthetic grocery stores, are new and popular fashion in summer coats and suits for resort wear. They're even finished with the red thread in the selvage. The skirts are wrap-around, and the coats are three-quarter length, with raglan sleeves and straight lines.

LINEN GOLF SUIT BY CHERIE NICHOLAS

Linen is a much talked-about fabric these days. So versatile has the linen theme grown to be it's sheer handkerchief linen for this, and soft, heavy, linen for that, and gorgeous plaid or striped linen for your blouse or your new collar-and-cuff set, and so on and so on, runs the story of linen in season 1934 modes. The three-piece golf costume pictured is made of soft and brown Irish linen. For active sports, this costume has all the features which make it perfect. A separate blouse is fastened to the skirt by means of slots through which one pulls a chic leather belt. Sleeves that are cut out under the arm make it possible to take a good long swing. Leather buttons, four large patch pockets and a red scarf that is worn high at the throat, are the newest fashion notes.

Designers Are Planning Gowns to Set Off Jewelry

Along with dresses built around jewels come frocks created as backgrounds for striking necklaces or evolved to set off smart belts.

They are midseason novelties designed to fill that yawning wardrobe gap until spring fashions arrive on the market.

Lelong took a necklace of soft gold wires falling from the throat half way to the waist and created a dinner frock of red violet wool as a background for it. It was cut with long sleeves on the simplest lines in order not to detract from the shimmering necklace.

Bryere evolved an afternoon frock of soft black wool crepe to accompany a choker necklace of green silk rope wound with silver threads. The frock was designed with a plain round neckline which lay smoothly under the closely fitting necklace.

Schiaparelli designed a sports frock for southern resort wear around a bright red Chinese lacquer buckle. The material was cotton in red, white and blue, the belt, piping and hat also being of blue.

W. L. STEVENSON

A rather small man with blue eyes, high forehead, aquiline nose, and clipped gray mustache and goatee, John Francis Curry, the only leader Tammany has ever depended in its more than 130 years of history. Uncommunicative and a fighter, he rose from the ranks in the organization. He plays golf and both as a diversion and his liking for to pick long shots. John P. Quinn, whose defeat for re-election as mayor contributed much to Curry's defeat, is a golfing companion. Curry started life as a cowboy in Manhattan. That sounds rather strange. Nevertheless, a half century ago, the west side of Manhattan was pasture land. Curry looked after his father's cattle there and drove them to the stock yards. Later he became a telegraph operator and it was an assignment to the convention that nominated Grover Cleveland for the Presidency for a second time that turned his attention to politics.

At sixty, Curry is rated as a wealthy man. In addition to holding several city jobs, he built up an insurance business, which didn't suffer at all through his political connections. Even without the insurance business, despite the loss of the Tammany job, he wouldn't starve. He was commissioner of records of the Surrogate's court from 1911 until 1923, when he was chosen to boss Tammany, and for that he receives a pension of $3,600 a year.

A gentleman rather the worse for his liquor, wandered into one of those classy cocktail rooms and leaned against the service bar. The head waiter informed him that it was against the law to drink at the bar and led him to a table. When he had been served, the drunk staggered to his feet, glass in hand. The head waiter then informed him that it was illegal to drink hard liquor standing up. "But I gotta stand up," declared the unsteady one. "I'm drinkin' to the President of the United States."

For no good reason at all, that reminds me that the king of Sweden's pants are in Rowayton, Conn. In the possession of Arthur Billard. It seems that John Tunis engaged in a game of tennis with the king and there was some kind of locker mix-up. At any rate, Mr. Tunis came away with the king's pants, which he presented to Mr. Billard, who is his next door neighbor, and Mr. Billard is retaining the royal raiment as a show place.

That reminds me of the gentleman who attended a very formal affair. Giving himself a final look in the glass, he was quite pleased with his appearance, every detail being correct. So he put on his top hat and called a taxi. And not until well along in the evening, when it was entirely too late to do anything about it, did he discover that his feet were neatly encased in blue bedroom slippers. Hereafter, he won't start out until he receives an O. K. from his wife.

One of the minor mysteries of the great city is the tombstone of a baby that died 118 years ago. It was found by workmen razing a tenement house to make a playground on the lower East side. It is not known whether there was a graveyard in that location or whether the stone was taken there when a fill was being made. The inscription reads: "In memory of Hugh I. Fairley, son of Alexander and Abigail Fairley, who departed this life on March 17, 1816. Aged two years, two months and 14 days." Beneath that are these lines: "Sleep on, my babe, and take thy rest. God called thee home, He thought it best."

All day I've been puzzled over this, which appeared in the public notices column of the Herald-Tribune: "Dearest Millie, aren't you silly reading this column through. But here at last is one for you. Long Waisted."

Louisiana's Low Marriage Age Assailed in Drive

New Orleans.—The low marriageable age in Louisiana, fourteen for boys and twelve for girls, was declared a reflection on the character of the state's citizenship by Prosecuting Attorney Eugene Stanley of Orleans parish in launching a drive for a change in the law during the next session of the legislature.

Judge Values Bird $8 Higher Than Man

Brussels.—Sentences pronounced by Belgian judges sometimes make curious reading, especially when they concern carrier pigeons. The owner of a Siamese cat that ate a prize pigeon at Condekerque-Branche was sentenced to pay $25 and the costs of the action. On the same day, Max Coynens and George Lhoir were fined $17 each, with benefit of the first offenders act if they refrained from anything of the kind for three years, for killing a workman and seriously injuring another, during experiments with a stratosphere balloon.

The judge explained that they were working in the case of science, but the cat had no excuse.

HOWE CAVERNS

"Here's the Way, Leone Sousa, to Fix Your CONSTIPATION!"

Prescribes Dr. G. for Brooklyn artiste

When you "miss" a day—cleanse system thoroughly, completely. Thus avoid those sick headaches . . . that depressing "tired feeling" and other troubles. That's what Dr. G. advises.

Nagging sick headaches . . . unnatural tiredness . . . loss of appetite . . . that miserable "half-sick" feeling are all, doctors know, common results of constipation!

For when your intestinal tract has become clogged with poisonous wastes, the poisons are picked up by the blood stream and spread throughout your body, thus making you feel so listless, run-down, out-of-sorts. The accumulated wastes themselves exert pressure on intestinal nerves, often causing your headaches.

See what an amazing difference it makes when you rid your system of these wastes and poisons! And Sal Hepatica has been prescribed by doctors for nearly forty years as a safe, sure way to do this. For Sal Hepatica is utterly different from other types of laxatives in four important respects.

WHY SAL HEPATICA IS DIFFERENT—MORE EFFICIENT

1. It is a Mineral Salt Laxative. It flushes the system clear of poisonous wastes and aids Nature to restore the natural balance of body fluids.

2. Its action results from osmosis (a gentle, thorough flushing) and not from irritation.

3. It acts promptly. No hours of waiting to upset your day.

4. No "dragged-out" feeling afterwards—because Sal Hepatica does not deplete the body tissues of fluid.

So take Sal Hepatica at the first sign of clogged intestines. And thus aid Nature to keep you free from colds, grippe, rheumatic pains, upset stomach and other common troubles.

Commencement Exercises Are Held at the St. Ursula Academy

Delightful Musical Program at Opening of Exercises, Which Were Very Largely Attended—Dean Stanley Presents Diplomas to the Five Graduates—Distribution of Honors Made to the Students.

The commencement exercises of this classic as shown by the young St. Ursula Academy of Marygrove, this city, occurred on Tuesday afternoon at the academy.

Some time before the hour set for the graduation, friends and relatives of the students foregathered in the lovely gardens of the academy. The hour of beginning found the auditorium of the academy filled to capacity with friends of the graduates and of the school.

The program opened with the playing of a piano duet, "Norwegian Dance," by Grier, the players, who were excellent pianists being heard (with pleasure) without being seen. Then the curtains being drawn a beautiful picture was disclosed of the charming young graduates and schoolmates, in white dresses with broad ribbons of pale blue satin, holding their medals, each graduate carrying a shower bouquet of pink roses. They stood in front of a small altar-like grouping of flowers including a statuette of the Blessed Mother and Child.

There is something exquisite about the music at St. Ursula Academy, especially the vocal music in charge of one of the sisters who came from Belgium. The singing of "Magnificat," the School Song, conducted by this sister was beautiful from a musician's viewpoint, and without in the smallest degree marring the ensemble, some exceptionally fine voices were noted.

The "Scene D'Althaus," by Racine, was given by four young women, in beautiful and fluent as well as very expressive French was indeed an accomplishment to be proud of culturally. The characters were as follows:

Athle Frances Doyle
Joas Margaret Gannon
Joseph Patricia Sanglin
Abner Eleanor Murphy
Miss Pauline Kellerman gave the next number, Mendelssohn's "Presto Agitato," admirably, the tone production, phrasing and interpretation being excellent.

Another appreciated chorus was "Building," by M. B. Ehrmann. The diction in this number was particularly good.

The outstanding number of the program given with finesse was a scene from "The Lady of the Lake" (Adapted U. B. V.) by Sir Walter Scott. Without special scenery or costumes, the young ladies taking part made the scene very realistic and effective. The characters were: James Fitz-James, Margaret Fessenden, The Douglas, Madeline Berg, Ellen, the Lady of the Lake, Elise Short.

Roderick Dhu, Louise Kellerman, Malcolm Graem, Anna Helen Brogan, Allan Bane, Lillian Mitchell, Rita Margaret, Virginia Jones, Rita Lenihan, Ellen Norton, Ladies Phyllis Babcock, Bessie Freer, Historians, Ruth Loneragan, Margaret Grogan, Ruth Abernathy, Jean Healy.

While each number was heartily applauded, The Lady of the Lake, called forth the most enthusiasm, as well it might, for the appreciation of children and real culture. This wish is toward the ideals of Greek culture in the past as well as modern and the training of the mind and soul.

Dean Stanley told the graduates that he was proud of them and their record both spiritually and secular. In fact he said that they could hold their record in secular education as high as any, and in addition they had their religious training which was to be found in the very marrow of their bones. Wishing them all God speed, whether in after life they found their place as married and the maker of a home, or became the spouse of Christ in Holy Church, their Dean offered them a warm grip of the hand and a prayer for the greatest success in life. Following the dean's address, the graduates and Catholic members of the school, passed to the Chapel for the "Benediction," which brought to a close their graduation day at the Academy of St. Ursula.

A DISH FOR TODAY

Well-broiled trout are a treat for a king or a dabbler when made into part of an extra special menu.

Broiled Trout.

Split and clean the trout, and place it skin side down on a well-greased baking sheet. Sprinkle it with salt, and add pepper and paprika if desired. If the surface is brushed with melted butter or French dressing it will brown more readily. Place the pan about two inches below the broiler, which must be hot for about ten minutes, or until the surface is nicely browned. Slip the pan into the baking oven for from five to ten minutes more, so the fish will be cooked thoroughly. Loosen it from the pan with a pancake turner or a spatula, and slip it on to a hot serving platter. Serve the trout with a sauce of melted butter and ketchup with minced parsley.

The New York state college of home economics suggests the following menu: Tomato juice, cocktail, broiled trout, spinach, scalloped potatoes, and strawberry shortcake, with milk for the children to drink, and tea or coffee for the grownups.

Distinctive Designs and Details

OF HANDKERCHIEF LINEN

New York—If you add at least one handkerchief linen frock to your summer trousseau you will be doing the approved thing, particularly if you make your selection among the novelty prints such as the one shown today.

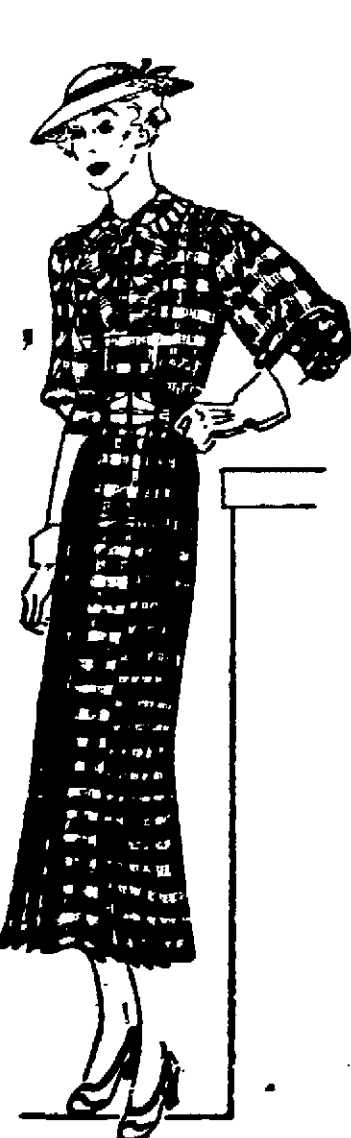

You may prefer the heavier linens, in which case there are the usual—and some unusual—peasant designs. As you must already know, table clothes have been cut up for frocks and some of them for bathing suits.

The shops have not failed to play up "play-suits," dressed with self shorts, grown up versions of the child's play dress. These come in all manner of gay designs, which by tacit consent seem to avoid florals. Wrap around or open skirts buttoned down the center are a sensible choice for dresses which are fated to make many trips to the laundry. Buttons and pockets play ornamental as well as useful parts in the sports clothes scheme. This applies to one or two piece dresses and suits, and to blouses and separate skirts as well.

No matter what your summer plans may be, it's going to take a separate skirt and blouse to complete them. In chatting recently with a woman who is simply mad about the new Schiaparelli things and who brought many of them back from Paris with her, we agreed that this important woman is as usually blazing her own trail and as usual in the opposite direction from the rest of the couturiers. For instance, when everyone is playing up higher necklines, she is going into reverse, making some of her knitted dresses decidedly low. The feeling is for softer lines in knitted dresses and for combinations of color.

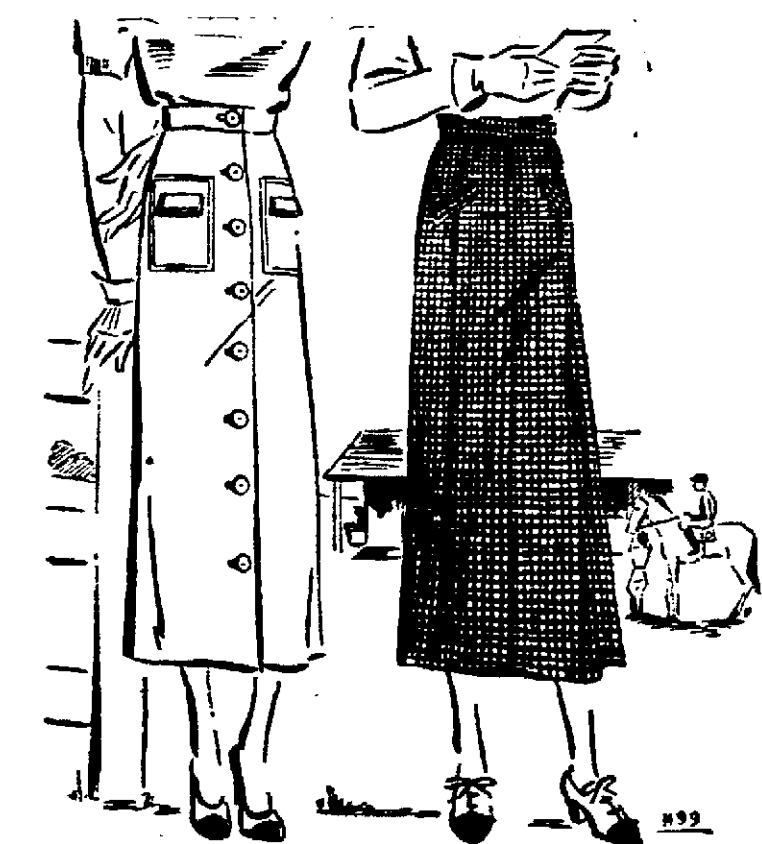

DID YOU KNOW THAT

The cotton tweed coat with bowish collar and loose lines is noted around. It appears in natural, white and the pastel. White corduroy blocked off and made in the same casual summer sports silhouette is another fashion.

Handkerchief linen appears in a distinctive version of the shirtwaist frock, with side-pleated skirt, yellow bow buckle fastening and soft fabric belt.

Left, natural linen setting is used for a front-buttoning skirt with big patch pockets fortified by flaps which should keep the contents inside the pockets.

Right, brown and white check woven is chosen for a slightly flared gown skirt with clean pockets.

A Bright Reflection

The charm of a fresh pink color and brought under the brim at back scheme given additional style appeal to millinery. Among the pink hats is an enormous one of felt, with brim turned up in back, and with the shallow crown headed with silver ribbon. A bride's hat of white velvet, with a touch of velvet ribbon and a cluster of French flowers, is also shown.

Physician Believes Babies are Gaining

Corbett, Ont., June 6 (AP)—Nurses attending the Dionne quintuplets are attempting to make arrangements to feed them simultaneously to avoid nose-pulling conflicts.

Two of the tiny infants struggled to be first and almost came to blows when the food arrived.

While Annette, weight 2 pound 4 ounces was being fed her two-hour allowance of human milk from an eye dropper today, Yvonne, who weighed in recently at 2 pounds 6½ ounces, lay impatiently beside her sister. Perhaps she remembered that Annette had punched her nose yesterday. Finally she reached over and tweaked her sister's nose.

Dr. A. R. DuPon, attending the infants, reported the incident after his morning call at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Ovide Dionne. The high spirits of the children delighted him. He believes their disposition to fight is a sign of gaining strength.

City Laboratory Not To Be Moved

The city laboratory committee met on Tuesday to consider an estimate that had been made of the cost of moving the city laboratory from the county building on John street to the third floor of the city hall, and the committee decided that owing to the excessive cost of getting the rooms in the city hall ready for laboratory purposes that it would be best in the interest of economy not to move the laboratory at the present time.

SIAM'S KING DID WELL IN OPERATION, REPORT SAYS

London, June 6 (AP)—King Prajadhipok of Siam was reported by his entourage to be progressing splendidly after a successful operation early today for the removal of a cataract from one of his eyes.

The operation was performed at a private clinic by Sir Stewart Elder for the second stage of an old cataract.

His majesty will be confined at the clinic for about a week, after which he will be free to carry out previously scheduled plans, including a trip to the United States.

The king intends to sail for America early in September and will undergo an operation in New York on his other eye, which has become infected and will require treatment in the autumn.

MME. LUPESCU MAY TAKE REFUGE IN PARIS, IS REPORT

Paris, June 6 (AP)—Reports that Mme. Magda Lupescu, red-haired intimate friend of King Carol of Rumania, would take refuge in France from alleged plots on her life persisted today.

Georges Dimitrescu, former secretary to Carol, came to Paris recently and was said to be preparing Carol's chateau, Belleme, near Dinard, for Mme. Lupescu at the king's instructions.

LITTLE AMERICA SWEETENS UNDER RECORD "HOT SPELL"

Little America, Antarctica, June 6 (via MacKay radio) (AP)—Sleeping bags have been laid aside for blankets by some members of the Byrd Antarctic expedition as a "hot spell" shows no signs of relenting.

About 16 degrees higher than the maximum recorded by any previous explorers of the Antarctic.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 6 (AP)—Stocks were dull and moderately irregular today as traders apparently waited for some confirmation of the last two days' rallies.

While Wall Street, as a whole, was mildly bullish, there was no disposition to "reach" for equities. Some profit taking came into the list on the theory that a technical reaction was due to follow the recent advance. The indicating trend, though, did not seem to be present in any pronounced degree and sensitive buyers was discerned in various quarters.

The oil share group, including Standards of New Jersey, Amerasia, Standard and Texas Corp., advanced fractionally to more than a point on word that refining operations had been sharply curtailed. The alcohol improved, Scheinley getting up a point following its satisfactory quarterly earnings statement. American Telephone, Bethlehem Steel, DuPont, American Sugar Refining and Eastman Kodak advanced, but U. S. Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Colgate, National Dairy, Case, Deere, U. S. Smelting, N. Y. Central and Westinghouse were somewhat lower.

Matching Miles —By Pap

THE Spotlight BY GRANTLAND RICE

WHO WILL IT BE?
Merion, Pa., June 5:

Who will it be at Merion?
Speak, gamblers, who still like a chance—
From stardom or oblivion—
Who leads the next wild dervish dance?
Will it be Hagen, Smith or Shute,
Or Diesel, with his jumpy wrist?
Shh me the odds—and what's to boot—
Among those written in the list.

Who will it be at Merion?
Young Goodman, from the golden west,
Or Little Stanford's slugging son,
Who rises to the final test?
Will it be Wood—who drives a mile,
Or Runyan—with the Midas form,
Or Tommy Armour's flawless style
Amid the swirling of the storm?

Who will it be at Merion?
The odds are open—take your pick—
The Dumas—from the setting sun—
Or Sarazen—who's not a mick?
Tomorrow you will see the fun—
The shifting tide that ebbs and flows—
Who will it be at Merion?
The answer is—nobody knows.

The Amateur Threat.
"We've had enough trouble from amateurs in the last ten years," an old-time pro said in looking over the list. "I wonder if we'll get another jolt this year?"
To begin with, the defending champion is an amateur—Johnny Goodman of Omaha.
In addition to Goodman there is a distinct threat from Lawson Little, Johnny Fischer and Gus Moreland.
Both Fischer and Moreland have turned on the steam more than once in medal play tests, and the same thing may happen again.
These are the top four amateurs—the main threats the pros will have to face.
Of the four, Goodman's average has been the best or at least the most consistent.

How About Gene Sarazen?
Gene Sarazen lately has been more air-minded than he has been par-minded.
Gene has put most of his attention on aviation for some months, and it will be interesting to see just how this switch works out in connection with the Merion open.
Gene is a jealous and gripping mistress. It demands full concentration on its own problems. But there is also a chance that Sarazen will miss the high tension which produces such havoc with a large section of the field. His mental attitude may develop less pressure—and if he happens to get a fast start he will be something to follow all the way.
Sarazen is the greatest hunch player in the game. His hunches work in both directions. But if he happens to pick up a winning hunch he can start quite a blaze as he scurries along at high speed.
Two years ago he was both U. S. and British open champion. Today he is P. G. A. champion, but those other two crowns are worn by Johnny Goodman and Denny Shute. He could use one of those crowns on his im-pending golf tour of the globe—or that part of it which presents a fair-way and a putting green.

Phillies Not Quite So Bad As They Have Been Painted

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR., Associated Press Sports Writer.
One of the best of this year's crop of baseball yarns concerns the fans who watched the Phillies as they lost their seventh successive game at the start of the season and toward the end loudly addressed Manager Jimmy Wilson:
"You asked for it Jimmy, now you're getting it."
After a long trial, it begins to appear that the Phils aren't quite so bad as they have been painted. The Phils showed plenty of power yesterday as they trimmed the Brook-lyn Dodgers in both ends of a doubleheader.
After spotting the Dodgers a six-run rally in the opener, the Phils finally won out in the ninth 11 to 10 when Bud Clancy, recently bought up from Buffalo to supplant Don Hurst at first, socked a home run go ten innings in each game to split the series. Philadelphia won the first 5 to 7. Washington took the second 4 to 3.
Sad Sam Jones limited the fourth-place St. Louis Browns to six hits to give Chicago an 5 to 2 opening vic-tory but three fingers couldn't check the second-game hitting and St. Louis won 10 to 5.
The Athletics and Senators had to go ten innings in each game to split the series. Philadelphia won the first 5 to 7. Washington took the second 4 to 3.
Cubs Knocked Out.
Philadelphia's double victory couldn't change the league standing but the first-place St. Louis Cardi-nals took care of that part of the day's activities by trimming Chicago 6 to 3 to knock the Cubs out of the three-way virtual tie for the lead. The New York Giants kept their 21-4, Pomsd, 37:40.

Prelims Presage Wild Charge for Links Title In 39th National Open

Champion Goodman, who retained title in 1933, is expected to start in 1934. Goodman's chief opposition points in the direction of such clever club-wielders as Gene Sarazen, Walter Hagen, Tommy Armour and Bill Burke, all former timekeepers, as well as Paul Runyan, the winter's big money winner, Denny Shute, the British Open King, Ky Lauder, the Denver Demon, Olin Dutra, Wilf Cox, Craig Wood and more than a score of others, including two of his Walker Cup mates, W. Lawson Little, Jr., British Amateur champion, and Gus Moreland, the Bronzed Texan, who was the second lowest scoring amateur in the 1933 title event.

In testing his shoes against Merion's track and traps, and 117 other crack professionals of the fairways, both professional and amateur, got in their last practice holes today before the start of the 39th National Open tomorrow.
By helping Uncle Sam win the Walker Cup matches with Great Britain last month Goodman con-ceeded his challengers a head start in their work-outs because of his late return from England. Some of the contestants have been at Merion more than a week, while the 27-year-old amateur debutants arrived in until late Monday.
Because of the almost unlimited scoring possibilities this 4-day varsity par 10 course offers, at least a half dozen stars are contended a better chance of coupling the crown than Johnny Goodman's lead.
Goodman, setting a related start in the direction of such clever club-

Washington Huskies Draw Favored Lane

New York, June 4 (AP).—The huskies of Washington, only under-estimated crew entered, have drawn the favored No. 1 lane for the four-mile regatta June 15.
Closest to the West shore of the Hudson, the No. 1 lane is most pro-tection in the event of rough water conditions. Drawn after Wash-ington in order are Columbia, Ken-necticut, California, Syracuse, Penn-sylvania, Princeton, Cornell, Har-vard, Yale, and Navy.
For the junior varsity race of three miles Navy drew the No. 1 lane followed by Syracuse, Columbia, Ken-necticut and California.
Columbia will hold the inside position in the two-mile freestyle race with Syracuse, Washington, Ken-necticut, Penn and Cornell strung out in that order across the river.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

On the heels of spring happenings, the baseball leagues shouldn't have much trouble picking a lineup to try to square accounts with the American League for the beating taken in the all-star game at Chicago last July.

They could, for example, put the same segregation of free-swingers on the field for the second annual game to be held in New York this July 10.

Bill Terry of the Giants, Frank Frisch of the Cardinals, Fred Vaughan of the Pirates and Pepper Martin of the Cardinals. Out of the outfield, the Cardinals and Joe Judge of the Cardinals.

At the bat, the Cardinals and Joe Judge of the Cardinals. At the bat, the Cardinals and Joe Judge of the Cardinals. At the bat, the Cardinals and Joe Judge of the Cardinals.

This is merely a starting point for the argument that will be waged, privately and publicly, for the next few weeks.

How About The Babe?

One of the toughest problems for the American League to solve in its all-star selections is whether to keep Babe Ruth in right field, where his defensive weakness might offset his slugging potentialities. Aged and spindly or otherwise handicapped, we can't imagine the all-star lineup taking the field without the Babe. He might be withdrawn for purposes of defensive strategy later, but he belongs in the starting group. If for no other reason than to face his home run, he should be in the lineup.

At Simmons of the White Sox is another A. L. fixture in the outfield but developments this year point to Carl Reynolds of the Red Sox for the third assignment on the ramparts, in preference to Sammy West of the Browns or Heinie Marmah of the Senators.

The American League, strangely enough, did not see Jimmie Fox in last year's game, although he was conceded to be the league's most valuable individual performer for the second straight season. Jimmie was outscored by Lou Gehrig for the first base assignment and did not get enough ballots to take the third base job from Jimmy Dykes. Exactly the same problem presents itself this year, the solution of which is either to alternate Gehrig and Fox at first or take the bull by the horns and install Jarring Jim at third.

To fill out the all-star American League lineup for the time being, we will install Charley Gehringer of Detroit as second base and Manager Joe Cronin of the Senators at short.

Some More Guesses
Rolfie Hemslay wouldn't be a handicap behind the bat, the way he has been going this spring under the influence of Rogers Hornsby, but the experts probably will turn orthodox and pick Bill Dickey, Rick Farrell, the 1933 all-star performer, or Mickey Cochrane.

Lefty Vernon Gomez of the Yankees is the No. 1 pitching choice and might well be entrusted to do the entire job. Bob Grove's arm still is an uncertain factor and few other consistent pitchers are available. Tommy Bridges of the Tigers and Oral Hildebrand of the Indians probably would do for alternate duty.

Kingston Against Saugerties High

Kingston High School's varsity baseball team was scheduled to play Saugerties this afternoon at 4:30 on the diamond at the Kingston Fair Grounds with Emil Beck on the mound for the Maroon and White.

Saturday the Kingstonians will end their season at Port Jervis.

First To Use Fireless Cooker
The original fireless cooker was the one used by the Continental women who put partly cooked meat or stew in a large pan and buried it between two feather beds so that the heat would not radiate.

The Kingston Senecas by appearing with only seven men forfeited to Jack Clark's Mayflowers Tuesday in the Downtown Twilight League at Hasbrouck Park, but went on to an exhibition game and took over the Sixth Ward Club by the score of 4-2.

Three runs were scored in the sixth, the big inning for the Senecas, and they added one in the seventh. The Mayflowers tallied in the third and fourth.

Nicholas pitched for the Mayflowers allowing the Indians five hits. F. Embree gave the Mayflowers seven while tossing 'em over for the Senecas. F. Embree hit two out of three for the Senecas. D. Williams the same number of times for the Mayflowers.

This evening's game will bring together the Ulster Provision Association and the Schenck & Kelly combination. Starting time is 8:15 o'clock.

In the third inning Ralph Williams singled for the Mayflowers, stole second and scored on Stump's one sack to left.

A walk to Van Buren, an infield out and D. Williams' single to left scored the Mayflowers' last run of the game in the fourth.

The Mayflowers filled the bases in the seventh but didn't score.

Embree hit singles and Stewart a homer to give the Indians a 3-2 lead.

The seventh saw Suarez get to first on Leck's error, go to second on an infield out and score on F. Embree's single to left.

Kingston basketball fandom may have a jump for the metropolitan area. The Kingston Legionnaires will be afforded an opportunity to see one of their favorites wearing the spangles of "The Kingston Legionnaires" when that team takes the court in October for advice was received from Frank Morgenweck, manager of the club, yesterday that he had started negotiations with Carl Husta to play with the team. Manager Morgenweck has been spending a week at his former home in Egg Harbor, N. J., and Carl is also at his home there and naturally they got their heads together. As a result the former Kingston star has given his promise that he will not sign with anyone until he hears definitely from his old boss, Morgie.

As announced through the press a few weeks ago, Kingston will again be represented by a "Major League" professional basketball quintet the coming fall and winter. The team will play under the auspices of Kingston Post, No. 150, American Legion, and will be known as "The Kingston Legionnaires". Frank Morgenweck, who brought the professional game to this city as far back as 1910 and achieved many championships including a world's professional title in 1921-22 by defeating the Original Celtics in a five-game series, will have charge of the club. The Original Celtics at that time, with the greatest of them all, Nat Holman, Johnny Beckman, Fatty Banks, Joe Lopchick, Chris Leonard, Dutch Dehnert and Pete Barry, were considered the last word in professional basketball teams. The Kingston quintet, after taking both halves of the New York State League title, went on to take the Celtics three out of five. Carl Husta, Benny Borgmann, Nick Harvey, Mickey Husta, George Artus and Charlie Powers were to make up that Colonial City outfit.

After American Franchise.
Plans are underway to secure a franchise in the American Professional Basketball League. President John J. O'Brien has the application together with the necessary forfeit money and the application will be acted upon at the June meeting of the league. President O'Brien has signified his perfect accord in having Kingston in the league. The rest of the managers have also stated they are perfectly willing to present the plans of the league are to carry on with teams that waged the last campaign. They were Ted Kearns' Trenton team, Union City Reds, Newark Joe Fays, Philadelphia Spas, Brooklyn Jewels, Brooklyn Visitations, and New Britain, Conn. With the addition of Kingston, the league would also favor the application of Madison Square Garden for a franchise and make it an eight-club circuit. The league also has an application from Boston for the games to be played at the Boston Garden but this city will hardly be acted upon favorably as it is too late for the metropolitan area.

A True Kingston Team.

Manager Morgenweck plans to use the same tactics in developing this team with which he has had success in the past. The team would live here in Kingston for the duration of the training period and during the league season. Morgenweck plans to move here sometime in September and bring the players in here about the 10th of October for a three-weeks intensive training camp.

The league season opens the latter part of October or the first of November. Probably two or three exhibitions will be staged before the opening of the regular league season. The actual training of the players who will be tendered regular monthly contracts so that they will play only with Kingston, will not take place until final arrangements are fully completed. It is needless to say, that Morgenweck will gather together a strong club for if there is anyone in the basketball game that knows a player and that player is Frank Morgenweck. It is a little premature to state just who will wear the Kingston Legionnaire livery but if present plans work out, the combination will be one that will be right in the thick of the championship race.

Since the announcement that Kingston would have professional basketball again this winter, the basketball fans of this city and vicinity are all enthused again. It is hoped that "The Kingston Legionnaires" will fill a long-felt want. It has also been stated that very popular prices will apply with reserved seats available for single games as well as for the season.

Game Thursday and Sunday for Schryvers

William C. Schryver's All Stars have two heavy assignments on their schedule—a game with the Brooklyn Royal Colored Giants Thursday evening at 6:15, and another Sunday with the Rev. Father Francis Boyle's Peckskill A. C. Both contests are slated for the Kingston Fair Grounds.

The Royals will come to Kingston from Troy, arriving at noon to rest up from their trip. They just completed a tour of upstate cities, including Utica and Syracuse, where they were big attractions.

Luther Farrell, old Black Yankee pitching ace, will toss for the Giants against the Schryvers.

Circus Counters Brown, second baseman and comedian, will be on hand to pay his usual game and entertain the fans.

Bill Thomas has been given the pitching assignment for the Lumbermen with Joe Hoffman as his battery mate.

It is the keen desire of the Schryvers to trim the Giants and thus fortify themselves for Father Boyle's team, which is rated as one of the strongest aggregations the locals will have to face here this season.

Petey Hayes began training at the Kingston High Club by going through three fast rounds with his local promoter, Harry Brown, drilling a series of operators, mostly Elks, who learned why he is one of the leading contenders for the title in his weight.

The training session was free as will be today's drill at 4 o'clock and Thursday's at the same hour. The invitation to watch Petey free of charge is extended through the courtesy of his manager, Frankie Jacobs, and the Elks. He trains at a stretch of 3 o'clock as first announced in order to give Kingston High School students a chance to see him in action.

Yesterday's drill saw Hayes work as hard as if he were going into a championship fight. He cuffed Leone aptly, hooking, jabbing and using straight rights that possibly would have felled the heavyweight. Dash only for the padded training gloves, that took away some of the dynamite from Petey's punches, and the headgear.

Never in the history of local boxing was there any more speed shown in a training bout, or actual ring combat for the matter, than in the melee at the Elks. Those at the ringside found it a great pleasure to watch both Hayes and Leone. Both are fast men, good boxers, hard punchers—the kind that make good material for star bouts in any club.

That Petey picks no easy marks for sparring was easily seen yesterday and also is attested to by Leone's record—71 fights, all victories except seven. He has met such men as Eddie Cool, Jimmie Slavin, Angelo Gentile, Leonard DeGleno, Jimmy Rappaport, George Goldberg and Leonard Zazzarino. He was the first to beat Zazzarino in 35 bouts, scoring the triumph shortly before Lou met Al Singer in the Garden.

Leone was scheduled to work with Hayes again today and Thursday. Julie Katz also will be on hand to go a couple of frames with Hayes on the latter day, by which time the Saugerties favorite will be hardened enough to go six rounds instead of three.

Of course, besides boxing, Hayes goes through regular calisthenics to toughen his muscles and keep off the fat.

As Petey concluded his drill with the exercise, Manager Jacobs remarked about the zest with which the little featherweight went through "The really wants to be in the best shape of his career for this fight June 15. Aspires to do this best for the same reason, you know. A fighter gets the pleasure out of working before the people of his neighborhood and Petey is no exception. If ever he was anxious about winning it is over Torres at Municipal Auditorium for the American Legion."

Hayes' anxiety for victory and the feeling of Ernest Torres that he has been given the run around look enough and can beat Petey if given the chance presages one of the most gingerly clashes seen here since the night Tony Leto from the late Walk Miller's stable pounded out a decision over Jose Martinez at the Kingston Fair grounds on one of the cards promoted by Bill Singer.

This battle was one of those that bring the fans to their feet. It will be remembered how Leto pelted away at the husky little Spaniard, trying to knock him out, but couldn't because of his stamina and willingness to dig in and trade wallops. Hayes is the same sort of schrapper as Leto and Torres is said to be much on the style of Martinez—one who can take and give. He claims he can karyo Hayes in six rounds. However, the Legion is waiting for his signed contract still, leading some to believe that he is skeptical of risking his reputation against Petey.

Written for The Associated Press.

Pompton Lake, N. J., June 5 (AP)—Vell, Sharlie, after I see Corn Griffin training here with a great big man three times his size, I tell you it still takes a good man, better maybe than Max Baer, to win the championship away from him and so I tell my people.

I am very good about prize fights. I was once a prize fighter myself, Sharlie. So you don't think so, eh?

Yes, you were, Sharlie? Not Vell don't I was once a prize fighter myself. I was known as Kid Scupper, never fought, never won. Never should I have quit. For suggestive knockouts I had, Sharlie. Just imagine it, life suggestive knockouts. Yes, yes. Five times I was knocked out.

So I find out everyting for mine people. I boxed one round with Carnera, who was the champion, I had out and not Griffin.

So I hit him the first punch and I hit him the third punch and for twenty minutes in between nothing happens. That was when he hit me the second punch, Sharlie.

Carnera is in great shape. He wears out cameramen just taking his pictures and men it takes to put on him his gloves. He boggles you. So Thursday I go down by Baer's camp in Asbury Park to tell my people about him too.

Fifty-two per cent of the graduates of the University of California are engaged in professional or semi-professional pursuits, a survey disclosed.

Historical Society Luncheon Meeting

Complete plans were made in taking the survey, so that if desired the houses could be duplicated.

Mrs. Alice B. Parker spoke last night of Mary Elizabeth, who lived in one of the old stone houses with reference to Petrus Edmund, who lived in Hurley, but later moved to Kingston.

Mrs. Hermon Kelley of St. Mary gave an interesting description of a rather unusual feature, the old Indian "trail tree" near St. Mary.

Dr. Poucher of Dutchess county spoke briefly, making some reference to the old Haverhill house at Kerhonkson and, stressing the desirability of the purchase and preservation if possible.

Dr. Fitch, state historian, was the last speaker. He referred to the fact that Ulster county had its historic spots pretty well marked, but said that from one hundred to five hundred more markers should be placed to designate historic buildings, bridges, and places of interest in the county. He said that these markers could be procured if the necessary steps were taken to secure them and see that they were properly placed.

It was after three o'clock when Mrs. Sarre declared the session at an end.

The decorations of mountain laurel throughout the dining hall attracted much attention. It was explained that these decorations were furnished by Mrs. Sarre, from the Yama Farms property—this in order to allay any suspicion that the society had been violating the law against gathering laurel and other wild flowers from along the roadsides.

The Misses Lyle and Dearman are newcomers to cup play. Miss Scriven was a member of the 1933 team at Forest Hills while the other three all have played at least two times on the English team.

The United States side, in addition to Miss Jacobs, is composed of Sarah Palfrey, Carolyn Babcock and Josephine Cruikshank. Alice Marble, third ranking American player, also was selected for the team but she collapsed during a Franco-American team series in Paris two weeks ago and is recovering in a hospital there from pleurisy.

CHILDREN'S DAY SERVICE AT ALBANY AVE. BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday, June 10, is Children's Day, and an appropriate program is being arranged by the Bible school of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church. The program will include the giving of flowers and certificates to members of the cradle roll department, and all babies who are members of this department are expected to be present. There will also be songs by the kindergarten and by the primary department. The main part of the exercises will be a musical pageant entitled "The Golden Road," in which about 30 members of the school will take part, most of them being in costume. The committee in charge of the exercises is Mrs. N. H. Fuller, chairman; Mrs. Vernon Van Norstrand, Mrs. N. J. Seibold, Mrs. W. W. Brady, Jr., and Mrs. F. A. Tigar. The offering very appropriately will be for the Upstate Baptist Home for Children at Oneonta.

Strawberry, "Strayberry,"

Known in Victorian Days

"No vegetable production of the colder latitudes is at all comparable with the strawberry in point of flavor." Thus wrote a well-known authority on fruit in early Victorian days. The strawberry was brought under cultivation during the early part of the Nineteenth century, though some wise folk had attempted it on a small scale previously.

In the days of the expert quoted above, the cultivation of strawberries was largely carried on in London, notably at Camberwell, and a little way out. Large quantities were grown at Isleworth and Twickenham. Women tramped up from Wales and her colliery districts for the season, and between the strawberry grounds and Covent garden, with a heavy load on the head walked about 40 miles a day.

It has been suggested that the strawberry owes its name to the straying habit of the plant. It was certainly pronounced strayberry in early times. The raspberry is said to derive its name from its rough and bristly appearance.—Montreal Herald.

The Badger

When put to it to defend himself, the badger has fierce courage, and will usually satisfy attackers they had better retreat. Squatting low to the ground, and provided with powerful muscles and sharp teeth, he can inflict serious wounds. When attacked, the badger gives off a powerful and nauseous scent from a pair of glands near the base of the tail. (He belongs to the "shink-cat" family; a relative of the weasel, mink and skunk).
